- Short texts by people associated with Studio SKLIM speak to the innovation and standards of the firm

Studio SKLIM is an innovative and forward-thinking design firm skilled at crafting bespoke spatial solutions. Based in Singapore and with a presence in India, the firm believes that the fast-changing contemporary life demands a rethink and reorganization of existing spatial parameters in design.

Studio SKLIM: Evolving Techne features ten carefully selected projects that exemplify the firm's approach as integrates traditional practices with modern technology and sustainable practices. The selected portfolio presented in this monograph encompasses a diverse range of built and unbuilt projects, including residential, hospitality, workplace, and education. Each project includes stunning full-color photography, informative text, and explanatory diagrams to reveal the thought behind the design.

Kevin Lim, the founding principal of Studio SKLIM, leads an award-winning interior and architectural design firm headquartered in Singapore, with notable projects spanning Singapore, Japan, China, and India. With the early influence of William Lim, one of Singapore's pioneering architects, Kevin's career trajectory has seen him gain experience across London, Singapore, and Beijing, collaborating with renowned international practices like the Office for Metropolitan Architecture (OMA) founded by Rem Koolhaas.
Kevin Lim graduated with the AA Diploma from the Architectural Association in London and a Bachelor degree in Architecture from the National University of Singapore. Kevin is an accredited professional of the India Green Building Council (IGBC).
